The purpose of the planned visit is to participate in professional exchange, coordination and networking activities within the framework of the U_CAN project and its twinning between Khmelnytskyi and Dresden, as well as within the solidarity partnership and the cooperation between Khmelnytskyi and the City of Dresden.

The programme will include a working day focusing on sustainable mobility, intelligent traffic management and Smart City solutions, as well as a day dedicated to waste management, circular economy and resource management. Particular emphasis will be placed on the exchange of expertise between KhNU and institutions and research partners in Dresden, including opportunities for future academic and research cooperation.

The visit will be financed by U_CAN project funds allocated to KhNU. This includes travel, accommodation, meals and insurance. Travel arrangements are to be made by the KhNU delegation; support can be offered upon request. The City of Dresden will organise the on-site programme and cover the local costs directly associated with the programme. Working infrastructure will be provided by Dresden.

The City of Dresden assumes no liability for any damage caused by participants or for any costs arising in the event of an accident or illness. It is the responsibility of Khmelnytskyi National University (KhNU) to ensure that all participants have adequate insurance coverage for the duration of the visit.

The City of Dresden looks forward to welcoming the KhNU delegation from Khmelnytskyi and to continuing and further developing the fruitful cooperation within the framework of U_CAN and the partnership between Khmelnytskyi and Dresden.

Please do not hesitate to contact us should you require any further information.

Sincerely,

Kerstin Zimmermann
Head of Office
